TRAWLERMAN has successfully made all in his last two starts and will likely take them along. MAXIDENT may vie for the lead. Strong fancies TRUESHAN and KYPRIOS are both hold up horses likely to begin their bids as they approach the turn for home.

Despite being a sprint this race is not littered with horses that make the running. SWINGALONG raced solo last time and didn't lead, but generally goes along in front at a fast pace and, drawn low, should make it near the rail. MILL STREAM is usually prominent and could be furthest forwards of those towards the middle of the track. SPYCATCHER is another that will be up there. KINROSS will probably finish strongly from midfield. ROHAAN always lingers in rear and swoops late and the testing ground and possible pace collapse will play to his strength.

RED RIDING HOOD was used as a pacemaker last time and she could adopt a similar role here with stablemate JACKIE OH more fancied and sitting close to her and perhaps looking for a seam on the rail turning for home. FREE WIND in contrast comes from the back and will probably be held up in the expectation the ground will make this quite a severe test. TIME LOCK may be ridden similarly.

BIG ROCK is a confirmed front-runner and despite the faster pace of English racing is likely to make it as he does in France. PADDINGTON usually races close to the front, stays well and will be happy to push the pace along. TAHIYRA will likely sit in midfield, has good form on soft and should challenge from the home turn. NASHWA will come from the rear, stays well and will hope the pace has been too quick.

MOSTAHDAF can win from anywhere and has done so in the past, but it seems he will be conserving his stamina to some degree given the conditions. POINT LONSDALE who has form over further and often leads may be best served trying to make this a test of stamina from the front. Progressive ROYAL RHYME is generally prominent and should be up there. BAY BRIDGE will be just behind the front rank and along with KING OF STEEL will attached as they turn for home. VIA SISTINA comes very late and will be last on the scene.

This will be a cavalry charge, probably run too quickly for the conditions. RAADOBARG and THE GATEKEEPER will make it on the far side with DANCING MAGIC at the front in the middle of the track. DOCKLANDS will be one running on late along with SONNY LISTON, MIGRATION and BARADAR. AL MUBHIR is drawn very wide and could do best of those on the stands' side.
